

THE POST-PANDEMIC SHIFT:

HOW EMPLOYEES ARE CHANGING THEIR PERSPECTIVES ON 'WORK'

ROBERT WALTERS

The hybrid 'office'

53%

of respondents prefer to work in the office for at least 2-3 days out of a week

11%

want to be based fully remotely.

Top 3 behaviours to emphasise upon employees' return to the office

53%

More collaborative working

50%

Enhanced focus on employee well-being/ separation of work & home

47%

More face-to-face meetings

Employee activism: what's important for companies to get right?

67%

of respondents felt it's important for their companies' positions on social & political issues to align with their own

Top 3 company values or affiliations that would make employees decline a job offer if unaligned

67%

Workers' rights

63%

Diversity, inclusion & equality

61%

Racial, cultural or religious matters

Dispersing of talent out of cities: a trend or the future of work?

44%

of respondents are unlikely to decline a job offer which requires a 100% attendance in the office, while 39% are likely to decline.

Top 3 reasons why respondents would not accept a fully remote/location-independent role

52%

Better work-life balance

32%

Enjoy some face-to-face interactions with colleagues

32%

Would like to have the option to go into an office

Retraining and reskilling to stay relevant.

94%

of respondents are willing to learn and retrain new skills to stay employable in the future

Top 3 barriers preventing respondents from retraining/upskilling

59%

Financial cost

51%

Requirement to retrain/upskill in their personal time

37%

No guarantee new skill will strengthen job security or career progression